

Tamkang University

Department of Diplomacy and International Relations

About the Program

All courses in this department are instructed in English. By offering intensive and relevant courses, this department aims to equip students with proficient knowledge and skills on diplomacy, international relations, regional politics & economic development etc. A friendly international learning environment is especially characterized in this department so that students from all over the world can properly enhance their professional competence together with a global vision of career development. In addition to providing excellent opportunities for the study of international relations, with abundant choice among texts and topics from many periods, this department will train students to apply theories and techniques of international relations to diplomacy. Students will also be able to explore some of the complex interactions between these two disciplines.

Admissions information

Applicants should submit application through the Admission Office of the TKU during the period between March and June each year. A committee consists of at least 3 members will conduct the evaluation process after the Admission Office has completed initial review of the qualification of the applicants. Applicants should prepare the following documentations for evaluation. For further information log on to the Office of Admission at TKU or the Office of International Affair. We also provide QR code of our New Department.

Application Timeline

Application Submission (Fall Semester, beginning in September):
From Mid-Feb. to the last third part of June <http://english.tku.edu.tw/Admissions.asp>

Courses

The Department of Diplomacy and International Relations offers the following set of courses, mostly on a semester by semester basis. This program is a wonderful foundation stone to a practical career, whether in diplomacy, government, and international affairs. The categories of courses are Diplomacy, International Relations, Politics, Economics, Statistics, International Political Economy, International Law, National & International Security, Development of Regional Politics and Economics, International Trade...

*** A "Joint Program of International Trade" with the Department of International Business is in preparation, in which diploma would be conferred after all the required credits are completed.

Faculty

The Department of Diplomacy and International Relations takes its faculty from the various Institutes within the College of International Affairs. This provides a solid source of outstanding and experienced faculty members. This provides a solid source of outstanding and experienced faculty members. For example, the Vice-President of International Affairs, Prof. Tai Wan-chin, Dean of College of International Affairs, Prof. Wang Kao-chen, and Senior American Prof. David Kleykamp and former Congressman Prof. Edward I-hsin Chen...

Contact Us

Cheng Chin-mo, Ph.D.,
Coordinator of Preparatory Committee,
Department of Diplomacy & International Relations, Tamkang University #151, Ying Chuan Rd.,
Tamsui, 25137 New Taipei City, Taiwan
Tel. 886-2-26215656 #3000
Fax. 886-2-26224058
Email: tidx@mail2.tku.edu.tw
Website address: <http://www.tidx.tku.edu.tw/main.php>

